

FACC Scholarship Rating Instructions

For the Awards & Scholarships Committee

Scholarship Application Screening

Each application should be read over carefully to insure the applicant has submitted all required materials and that she or he meets all eligibility criteria for a scholarship award.

Scholarship Rating

When scholarship dollars are limited, and the number of applications outnumber the available scholarship assistance, it is necessary to utilize a rating system for applicants. There is no way to be absolutely objective in rating scholarship applicants, but certain factors can be assigned numerical ratings with as much objectivity as possible. Such factors include the applicant's financial ability to attend, the applicant's potential for success, and the applicant's participation in the FACC and the IIMC as applicable.

Each Awards & Scholarship Committee member should participate in the numerical rating, using 5 as the highest rating in each category and 1 as the lowest. In this way, a combined ranking will result when category rankings are totaled by each committee member. By adding the scores assigned and dividing the resulting number by the total number of committee members, a ranking will be available for each applicant. Based on the ranking totals, the Awards & Scholarship Committee Chair will present the Committee's recommendation to the FACC Board for their final approval.

Scholarship Selection

Once the screening and ranking have been completed, selection of recipients should be simple. Whether or not a numerical ranking system has been used, the committee should determine how much money is available for scholarships and make its selection accordingly. A waiting list of applicants may be created from those applicants whose ratings prevented their selection, but to whom the committee would like to offer assistance if additional funds become available, or in the event a recipient is unable to utilize the awarded scholarship during that specific award year.

If the availability of sufficient money to cover all qualified applicants is an issue, the FACC Board may consider offering half scholarships to applicants with lower rankings.

Applicants will be notified of the FACC Board's final decision as outlined by the FACC By-laws.

Applicant Scholarship Rating Worksheet

One rating worksheet should be filled out for each applicant by each member of the Awards & Scholarship Committee.
